SYNOPSIS:

On 12-08-2000 at approximately 1:05 pm, deputies from the Poway Station responded to a two-vehicle traffic collision involving a semi-trailer and a pick-up truck hauling a horse trailer at State Route-67 just north of Poway Road. Upon arrival, deputies discovered a single overturned Dodge Ram pick-up truck located off the roadway down a shallow ravine. The horse trailer was torn away from the truck and was also off the roadway. Through the course of the investigation, it appeared the semi-trailer was traveling southbound on State Route-67. The driver had applied its brakes and veered into the oncoming lane of traffic. It collided into the pick-up truck and trailer which was traveling in the opposite direction, forcing them off the roadway. A horse was found deceased inside the horse trailer. The driver and passenger of the pick-up truck were transported by paramedics to Palomar Medical Center, Escondido, where they were admitted for non-life-threatening injuries. Alcohol was not suspected to have contributed to the collision.
